PROCEEDINGS OF THE
LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA
AT THE TENTH SUMMER MEETING
ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, JULY 30-31, 1948

THE LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA held its Tenth Special Summer Meeting at the University of Michigan on Friday and Saturday, July 30-31, 1948, in conjunction with the Linguistic Institute on the campus of the University. Many members attending the meeting accepted the invitation to arrive somewhat in advance of the sessions or to stay on after their conclusion in order to attend the lectures and conferences on linguistic subjects which had been arranged for the days immediately before and after the meeting.

THE FIRST SESSION was held on the afternoon of Friday, July 30. Hans Kurath presided as a proxy for President Hayward Keniston. The meeting was called to order at 2 P.M. About 60 persons were present. Dean R. S. Sawyer of the Rackham School of Graduate Studies welcomed the members of the Society on behalf of the University of Michigan. Mr. Kurath responded for the Society. Papers 1-5 were presented and discussed. The session adjourned at 4:45 P.M. Members and guests gathered for an informal subscription dinner in the Michigan Union.

THE SECOND SESSION was called to order at 8 P.M. with C. C. Fries presiding. About 100 persons were present. Papers 6-10 were presented and discussed. The meeting adjourned at 10:45 P.M.

THE THIRD SESSION was held on the morning of Saturday, July 31. The meeting was called to order at 9 A.M. with C. C. Fries presiding. Papers 11-16 were presented and discussed. The chair appointed as a Committee on Resolutions E. Adelaide Hahn (chairman), William H. Bennett, and Archibald A. Hill. The meeting adjourned at 11:50 A.M.

THE FOURTH SESSION was called to order at 2 P.M. with C. C. Fries presiding. Papers 12-17 were presented and discussed. Miss Hahn gave the following report for the Committee on Resolutions, which was adopted by unanimous vote:

The Linguistic Society of America hereby extends sincere thanks to all those who have participated in making possible a notably enjoyable and stimulating Summer Meeting, namely:

To the University of Michigan, for extending its facilities for meeting, especially the comfortable Union and the commodious Rackham Building;

To Dean R. S. Sawyer of the Rackham School of Graduate Studies for graciously welcoming us;

To the Executive Committee of the Linguistic Society of America and the Administrative Committee of the Linguistic Institute for arranging an interesting and well-balanced program;

And to the local staff members of the Institute for providing the wherewithal, and the Director of the Institute and his wife for providing the locale, for the delightful cocktail party which we know is to constitute a charming conclusion for a memorable meeting.

J. R. Firth was called upon by the chairman to present a brief summary of the Scarbrough Report, which contains the recommendations of a special commission in England pertaining to the study of Asiatic and African languages and cultures. After Mr. Firth's report the chairman announced that the staff members of the Institute would entertain the visiting members of the Society and members of the Institute at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kurath immediately after the adjournment of the session. The meeting adjourned at 5:10 P.M.

President Keniston called THE FIRST SESSION to order on Thursday, December 30, at 9:15 A.M. About 40 persons were present. Papers 1-8 were presented and discussed. The meeting adjourned at noon.

THE BUSINESS MEETING was called to order by President Keniston at 1 P.M. The minutes of the preceding meetings were called for. The Secretary stated that the minutes of the Ninth Summer Meeting held at Ann Arbor on August 1-2, 1947, and of the Twenty-Second Annual Meeting held at New Haven on December 29-30, 1947, had already been printed in Bulletin 21, which had been sent to members during 1948. Minutes of the Tenth Summer Meeting held at Ann Arbor on July 30-31, 1948, would appear in Bulletin 22 in 1949. On motion, it was voted that reading of these minutes be dispensed with and that they be adopted.

The Secretary, Mr. Cowan, presented the following report, which was ordered received and filed:

The membership statistics are as follows: Starting 1947 there were 669 members, apart from Honorary Members, of whom three died during the year (Marie Paryski, G. Payn Quackenbos, and Ernst Riess); 24 presented their resignations, one effective at the end of 1945 (Ralph Marcus), one at the end of 1946 (C. K. Ogden) and 22 at the end of 1947 (J. H. Adams, G. S. Akhvediani, Madie W. Barrett, Ekkehard Born, Joseph J. Cunningham, Victor de Beaumont, Charles A. Driver, Eleanor Gorbea, Joseph B. Haley, A. P. Hamilton, Rev. Herbert P. Houghton, W. R.

Hutton, Hilda C. Laird, Howard P. Linton, R. H. Llewellyn, George E. McSpadden, Edgar A. Menk, John H. Monroe, Irma Pierro, Gustav E. Von Grunebaum, H. Bartlett Wells, John D. Workman); 10 were dropped for non-payment of dues in 1946 and 1947. The net membership with which the Society started 1948 was therefore 632; the increase in membership for 1948 is 96 (94 new members and 2 former members reinstated). The total membership for 1948, apart from Honorary Members, is 728, a gain of 59 as compared with 1947. There were 18 names on the list of Honorary Members at the end of 1947, of whom one had died in 1945 (Lorenz Morsbach), and three new members were added at the Annual Meeting in 1947, making a total of 20 for 1948. We regretfully record the death of three members: George O. Curme on April 29, H. H. Vaughan on January 4, and Francis A. Wood on June 19; and of one honorary member, Émile Bosacq.

The domestic Library Subscriptions have increased from 148 to 156 by a gain of 10 and a loss of 2, and foreign subscriptions have increased from 112 to 139 by a gain of 37 and a loss of 10.

As Treasurer, Mr. Cowan presented and discussed the following report:

The Executive Committee acting by correspondence voted to continue payments to R. A. Hall jr. out of net proceeds from sales of Hall's Bibliography of Italian Linguistics until Hall's advance toward cost of publication has been returned; set the time and place of the Tenth Summer Meeting and the Twenty-Third Annual Meeting, and arranged the programs; invited Professor M. L. Wagner to present a paper at the annual meeting; implemented the recommendation of the Committee on the Place of the Linguistic Institute (E. H. Sturtevant [chairman], C. C. Fries, Einar Haugen, George Lane) 'that the Society conclude an agreement with the University of Michigan to hold an indefinite number of sessions of the Linguistic Institute beginning with the session of 1949, with the proviso that either party may cancel any session on two years' notice.'

The Executive Committee held a special meeting on July 31 at 8 p.m. in the Michigan Union. Present and presiding Hans Kurath as proxy for Hayward Keniston, C. C. Fries as proxy for Murray B. Emeneau, the Secretary, George Lane, and Eugene Nida. Also present by constitutional provision but without vote E. Adelaide Hahn, Edgar H. Sturtevant, W. Freeman Twaddell, Kenneth L. Pike, Franklin Edgerton, George L. Trager; and by special invitation Bernard Bloch. The Committee reappointed the Administrative Committee of the Linguistic Institute to serve through 1949: Hans Kurath, Director; W. F. Twaddell, Associate Director; Joseph Yamagiwa, Assistant Director; Hayward Keniston, C. C. Fries, G. S. Lane. The Committee elected new members for the first half of 1948. After considerable discussion of the future of the Linguistic Institute, the Committee directed W. F. Twaddell, the Society's delegate to the ACLS, to present the problem of future financing of the Institute to the Board of Directors of the ACLS with a view to determining the probability of obtaining funds for this purpose.

The Executive Committee held a meeting on December 29 in the Hotel New Yorker, New York City. Present were Hayward Keniston (President), Mary R. Haas as proxy for Murray B. Emeneau, Otto Springer, Norman McQuown, Eugene A. Nida, E. Adelaide Hahn as proxy for George S. Lane, and J. M. Cowan (Secretary); by constitutional provision Franklin Edgerton, Albrecht Goetze, Einar Haugen, Hans Kurath, Kemp Malone, Edgar Sturtevant, and W. F. Twaddell; Bernard Bloch as proxy for Norman McQuown until his arrival after the meeting was under way, thereafter by special invitation. The Committee informally considered reports of the officers and committees; elected to membership additional new members for 1948; discussed the status of all current committees; extended to the end of the respective years the terms of the members of the Standing Committee on Research (Hans Kurath 1949, Henry M. Hoenigswald 1950, George S. Lane 1951); continued the Committee on the Collitz Bequest with Kemp Malone replacing E. H. Sturtevant (E. H. Sehrt [chairman], Franklin Edgerton, Kemp Malone, Taylor Starck, W. F. Twaddell); continued the Advisory Committee on the Investment of Linguistic Institute Endowment after relieving E. H. Sturtevant from further service (A. C. Baugh [chairman], Henning Larsen, E. H. Sehrt, E. B. Williams); appointed E. Adelaide Hahn as chairman of the Committee on the Place of the Linguistic Institute to serve through July 1949, and appointed Harry Hoijer to that committee (Einar Haugen 1949, C. C. Fries 1950, Harry Hoijer 1951—terms to expire August 1); discharged with a vote of thanks the Committee on the Group for American Indian Linguistics and the Committee on Honorary Members; reconstituted the Committee on the Free List (Otto Springer [chairman], Einar Haugen, Henry M. Hoenigswald, Roman Jakobson, Yakov Malkiel); appointed Bernard Bloch (chairman), Henry M. Hoenigswald, and C. F. Hockett as a committee to study the problems of reissuing out-of-print or inaccessible linguistic articles; approved the recommendation of the Committee on Honorary Members (see below); and voted to recommend to the Society that W. F. Luebke, a Foundation Member, who is now Emeritus Professor of English Language at University of Denver, be relieved from further payment of dues in accordance with Article II, Clause 6, of the Constitution.

This report was ordered to be received and filed. The recommendation of the Executive Committee pertaining to W. F. Luebke was approved unanimously.

Mr. Bloch, Editor and Chairman of the Society's Committee on Publications, presented the following report, which was ordered to be received and filed:

During the year 1948, the Society issues the following publications:

LANGUAGE, Volume 24; 441 pages.

Language Monograph No. 23: Acoustic Phonetics, by Martin Joos; 136 pages, with 4 plates.

Language Monograph No. 24 (Structural Sketches 1): French, by Robert A. Hall jr.; 56 pages.

Language Dissertation No. 42: The Neuter Plural in Latin Lyric Verse, by Elizabeth Gould Zenn; 20 pages.

Language Dissertation No. 43: Old English Prepositional Compounds in Relationship to Their Latin Originals, by John Raymond Hendrickson; 73 pages.

Bulletin No. 21; 55 pages.

Joint Publication with Cornell University Press: Descriptive Italian Grammar (Cornell Romance Studies, Vol. 2), by Robert A. Hall jr.; xi + 228 pages.

Language Monograph No. 24 is the first title in a new subseries within our series of Language Monographs. Items in this subseries, entitled Structural Sketches, are edited for the Committee on the Language Program of the American Council of Learned Societies, by a subcommittee of linguists at Cornell University (C. F. Hockett, J. M. Cowan, G. H. Fairbanks, R. A. Hall jr., F. B. Agard, W. G. Moulton). The purpose of the new subseries is 'to provide (1) a convenient source of fundamental information about the linguistic structure of a variety of languages, and (2) an opportunity for demonstration in extenso of various current methods of linguistic analysis.' Although the Linguistic Society's Committee on Publications is relieved of the labor of editing works in this subseries, all such works are subject to the Committee's approval. The subseries is financed entirely by the ACLS Committee on the Language Program.

As usual, I owe thanks to the other members of the Committee on Publications, to J. M. Cowan as Business Manager, to the scholars who have advised me on particular contributions during the year, and to the staff of the Waverly Press.

Mr. Kurath, Director of the 1948 Linguistic Institute at the University of Michigan, presented the following report:

The Linguistic Institute of 1948 had a considerably larger enrollment than that of 1947. There were 272 separate enrollments as against 180 in 1947. The number of students who were enrolled in linguistic courses was 193; of these 6 already had their doctorate, 167 were graduate students, and 20 were undergraduates.

The staff of the Institute consisted of 9 regular members of the staff of the University of Michigan and of 10 scholars from other institutions (Academia Sinica, California, Cornell, New York, North Carolina, Texas, Virginia, and Yale).

Professor E. H. Sturtevant of Yale University occupied the Hermann Collitz Professorship in Comparative Indo-European Grammar in the Linguistic Institute, which has been established by the Linguistic Society. It is supported by the income from the estate of the late Professor Hermann Collitz of the Johns Hopkins University and his wife Klara Collitz, and will be filled each year that the Institute meets.

For the first time since the beginning of the war we had on our staff a scholar from abroad, J. R. Firth, Professor of General Linguistics in the School of Oriental and African Studies in the University of London. His presence here was a stimulating experience. We shall make it a point to have a foreign scholar on our staff every year.

The Institute offered thirty courses. A number of highly specialized courses were offered in fields that are rarely treated in other institutions. A number of courses were devoted to new fields and techniques.

In addition to the formal courses, 22 lectures were given by members of the staff and by scholars especially invited for the occasion. All members of the staff and all the mature students attended these lectures; the audience varied from 80 to 200. Some of the papers presented in this series were of general interest, others were more highly specialized. Some dealt with research in progress, others were devoted to a discussion of new techniques, others again were in the nature of inventories of results attained in special fields. The frank discussions following these lectures were lively and stimulating.

The Administrative Committee is following a policy of rotating the staff so that in the course of three or four sessions scholars from nearly all the American universities offering advanced work in linguistics will teach in the Institute. As a result, the work of the Institute has become intimately known in all of these institutions, and students are encouraged by their professors to attend the Institute. There is hardly a major university in the country that has not sent advanced graduate students to the Institute at one time or another, and some of these universities send one or more students each year. The Institute thus serves to round out the training of young scholars in linguistics in all parts of the country.

For the present session, the American Council of Learned Societies put at the disposal of the Institute $3,000 toward the budget and $3,000 for fellowships and scholarships. This made it possible to award a number of post-doctoral fellowships to younger scholars who are already established in academic positions. Without exception these men profited greatly from direct contacts with the more experienced scholars of the Institute staff; one may confidently expect that they will be better scholars and better teachers because of this experience. We hope that funds for this purpose will be made available in the future.

The University of Michigan has been very generous in its support of the Institute. Nevertheless it is highly desirable that some financial support be secured from the outside toward the budget of the Institute and for fellowships and scholarships. Unless such support is secured it may not be possible to continue the present policy of offering highly specialized courses in which the enrollment is inevitably small. The policy of permitting students who are enrolled in two linguistic courses to visit, regularly or irregularly, other courses in the Institute might also be endangered to the detriment of the effectiveness of the work of the Institute. An annual subvention of $3,000 for the budget of the Institute and another $3,000 for fellowships and scholarships will enable the Institute to continue the effective work it has done in the past.

Mr. Kurath presented the following report for the Standing Committee on Research:

In 1947 the Committee on Research recommended that the Society should seek funds for publishing Robert A. Hall's Descriptive Italian Grammar and Zellig S. Harris's Methods in Descriptive Linguistics.

Hall's Grammar is being [now has been] published under the joint imprint of the LSA and the Cornell University Press. The American Council of Learned Societies made an award of $1,000 toward the cost of publication.

As far as the Committee knows, no arrangements have as yet been made for publishing Harris's book. It is to be hoped that this important contribution to the methodology of descriptive linguistics can be published soon. The manuscript was read not only by the members of the Committee, but also by Bernard Bloch, Charles

C. Fries, Robert A. Hall jr., and Charles F. Hockett, who unanimously support the recommendation of the Committee.

Two manuscripts were submitted to the Committee in 1948:

1. E. Bagby Atwood, Verb Forms in the English of the Eastern United States.
2. Dwight L. Bolinger, The Comparison of Inequality in Spanish.

The Committee unanimously recommends that funds be sought by the Society to publish Atwood's Verb Forms, which is based upon the collections of the Linguistic Atlas and forms a companion volume to Kurath's Word Geography of the Eastern States (now being published by the University of Michigan Press). This monograph gives a clear picture of the regional and social distribution of the forms of the past tense and of the past participle of such common verbs as climb, dive, eat, see, etc. in the Eastern States.

Bolinger's monograph has been read for the Committee by Robert A. Hall jr. (Cornell) and Lawrence B. Kiddle (Michigan), both of whom speak well of it. This study presents a skillful and well-documented analysis of a complicated problem in Spanish syntax. The Committee recommends that the Society be instrumental in securing funds for its publication.

Mr. Cowan reported that, following the recommendation of the Standing Committee on Research, he had made application in the name of the Society to the American Council of Learned Societies and that the ACLS had made a grant in the amount of $1000 toward the cost of publication of Descriptive Italian Grammar by Robert A. Hall jr. Mr. Cowan then proceeded to arrange for publication of this volume under the joint imprint of the Society and the Cornell University Press. The Press assumed all publishing cost in excess of the ACLS grant. Mr. Cowan further reported that the cost of publication of Monograph No. 24 (French, by Robert A. Hall jr.) had been borne by the Committee on the Language Program of the ACLS.

Mr. Edgerton presented the following report for the Committee on Honorary Members:

The Committee on nomination of honorary members, consisting of Robert A. Hall jr., Archibald A. Hill, and Franklin Edgerton (chairman), unanimously recommends that the following three persons be elected honorary members of the Society:

Jules Bloch, Professor of Sanskrit, Collège de France, Paris;

Myles Dillon, Professor of Celtic, University of Edinburgh;

Walther von Wartburg, Professor of Romance Philology, University of Basel, Switzerland.

On vote these three scholars were unanimously elected to honorary membership.

Mr. Twaddell gave the following report as delegate to the American Council of Learned Societies:

The American Council of Learned Societies is completing a period of reorganization which has involved three different Directors in as many years. Such transitions are not characterized by extensive programs of initiation and achievement. During this period it has been necessary for the Administrative Secretary, Mr. Mortimer Graves, who has an active interest in linguistics, to be absent from the offices of the Council for long periods at a time. The Council has been unable to secure new funds for linguistic work, but the Linguistic Research Fund, which came into being as a result of the operations of the Intensive Language Program, has been used as an emergency reserve to carry on certain vital work. From this fund $3,000 for fellowships and scholarships, and $3,000 as a general subsidy were granted to the Linguistic Institute. A grant of $3,600 was also made from this fund to enable R. I. McDavid jr. to continue field work for the Linguistic Atlas in upper New York State. Modest subsidies were also given for publication and for conferences.

Under the energetic leadership of Dr. Charles E. Odegaard, the new Director of the Council, the prospects seem good for stability in the Council's organization and a renewed interest in linguistic matters within the Council. Dr. Odegaard has shown a recognition both of the importance of a sound linguistic program and of its needs. The increasing interest in the activities of the Linguistic Institute makes it seem likely that the Society can count on strong support from the Council in representations to funding agencies for continued assistance to the Institute.

Mr. Kepke, as Delegate to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, presented the following report:

The annual meeting of the AAAS in September of this year was also the Centennial Celebration of the Association. It was characterized by a limited number of symposia on broad, general topics, instead of being broken up into a large number of specialized meetings.

There was one paper that deserves particular mention here. It was given by Professor Samuel A. Stouffer, sociologist, of Harvard University. He stressed with clear emphasis what is science and what is not science within the range of the social studies. This is, of course, a matter of considerable present importance in the field of linguistics.

The President then called for nominations. The Secretary read the report received from Mr. Haugen as chairman of the Nominating Committee, presenting the original slate of the committee:

President: Murray B. Emeneau, University of California
Vice-President: Zellig S. Harris, University of Pennsylvania
Secretary-Treasurer: J. Milton Cowan, Cornell University
Executive Committee (1949-50): Roman Jakobson, Columbia University, and Joseph K. Yamagiwa, University of Michigan
Editor: Bernard Bloch, Yale University
Committee on Publications (1949-51): Henry R. Kahane
Nominating Committee (1949-51): Henry M. Hoenigswald, University of Pennsylvania

As a result of the mail ballot two additional candidates were nominated: for the vacant position on the Nominating Committee (1949-51) Taylor Starck, Harvard University; and for the Executive Committee (1949-50) Joshua Whatmough, Harvard University. All nominees had signified their consent to serve if elected. There were no nominations from the floor. It was voted that the Secretary be instructed to cast one ballot for all nominees except those for the Executive Committee and the Nominating Committee. Tellers were appointed and ballots distributed; upon count the following were declared elected: for the Executive Committee Mr. Jakobson and Mr. Yamagiwa; for the Nominating Committee Mr. Hoenigswald.

President Keniston appointed a Committee on Resolutions consisting of E. Adelaide Hahn, A. W. Read, and A. A. Hill.

THE SECOND SESSION was called to order at 2 P.M. by President Keniston. About 100 persons attended. Papers 9-15 were read and discussed. Adjournment was taken at 5:30 P.M.

At 6:30 P.M. the annual informal banquet was held in the Hotel New Yorker, with 40 attending.

THE THIRD SESSION was called to order at 8 P.M. with Mr. Cowan presiding. Mr. Keniston gave the Presidential Address, Phonetic Evidence and Phonological Change. Papers 17 and 18 were read and discussed. Adjournment was taken at 10 P.M.

THE FOURTH SESSION was called to order at 9 A.M. by President Keniston. About 100 persons attended. Papers 19-25 were read and discussed. The session adjourned at 1 P.M.

THE FIFTH SESSION was called to order at 2 P.M. by President Keniston. About 100 persons were present. Papers 26-34 were read and discussed. Mr. Hill, for the Committee on Resolutions, presented the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

The Linguistic Society of America instructs the Secretary to send the following telegram to two of its members and a guest who expected to take an active part in this meeting but were prevented from attending by illness (G. M. Bolling, Roman Jakobson, and M. L. Wagner): 'The Linguistic Society of America has requested me to extend its condolences to you in your present illness, and to express its regret at your absence from the meeting and its hope for your early recovery.'

The meeting was adjourned at 5:30 P.M.
